

PRATTONIA 2003

Prattonia 2003

As the curtain falls and we take our bows, we prepare to become the writer, director and producer of our own lives. The time we spent at Pratt has been unique. Frame by frame, we developed new ideas, innovative minds and the ability to achieve success.

This book captures the Pratt experience and invites you to play back through your time here. Rewind through the school's history, facts and fiction. Pause on the cast of characters that surrounded you. Record any thoughts, memories, notes and numbers that you wish to keep. Roll the credits and break a leg as you begin the next act.

You are a goddess!

For always fighting for us.

For your attention to detail.

For your optimism, especially during pregnancy (congratulations!).

For being a mentor and pushing us forward every Tuesday at 8:15 am.

For your knowledge, connections, time, advice, support and critique.

You are the silver lining on cloudy days.

For the contacts and inspiring us yet always keeping us grounded.

For shoving us out on a limb.

(The ones who were gracious enough to help and not hinder us)

For compiling the list of graduates (multiple times).

For the wealth of information.

For the steamy video stills.

For the German translation.

The photo shoots would not have been possible without your expertise and assistance with lighting, equipment and crowd control.

SPECIAL THANKS

SMITHA ALAMPUR, JILLIAN JOHNSON, MATTHEW MCNERNEY

ABBEY BRADEN/KAREN MADSEN

ALL OUR FRIENDS & FAMILY

Not only for your support, ideas, and assistance with all aspects of this project, but for four years (and counting) of dedicated friendship. -SG

You are a rock star!/Your continuous encouragement gave me wings to fly. -KT

For your constant moral, spiritual, (let's not forget financial) support.

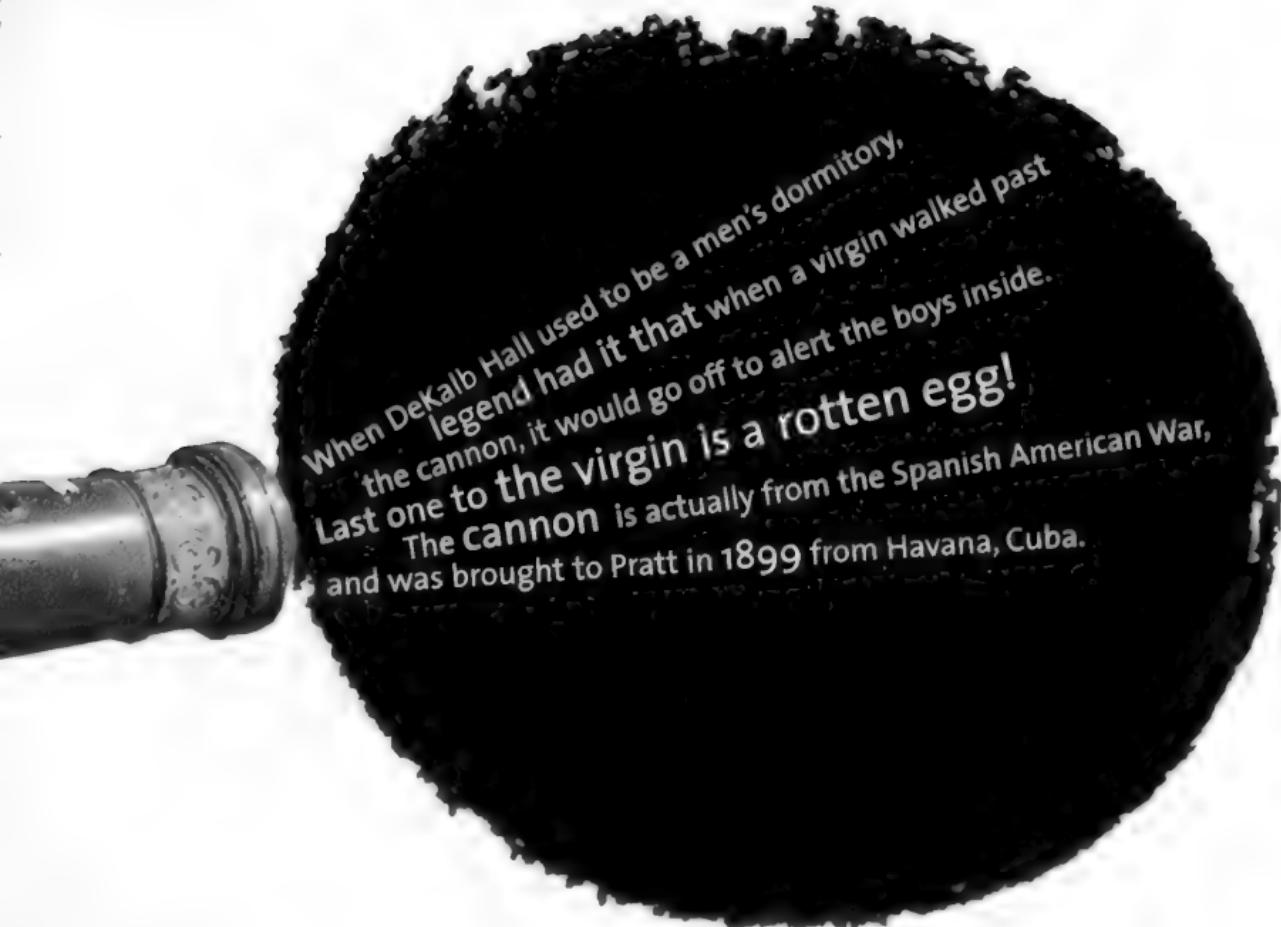

REWIND

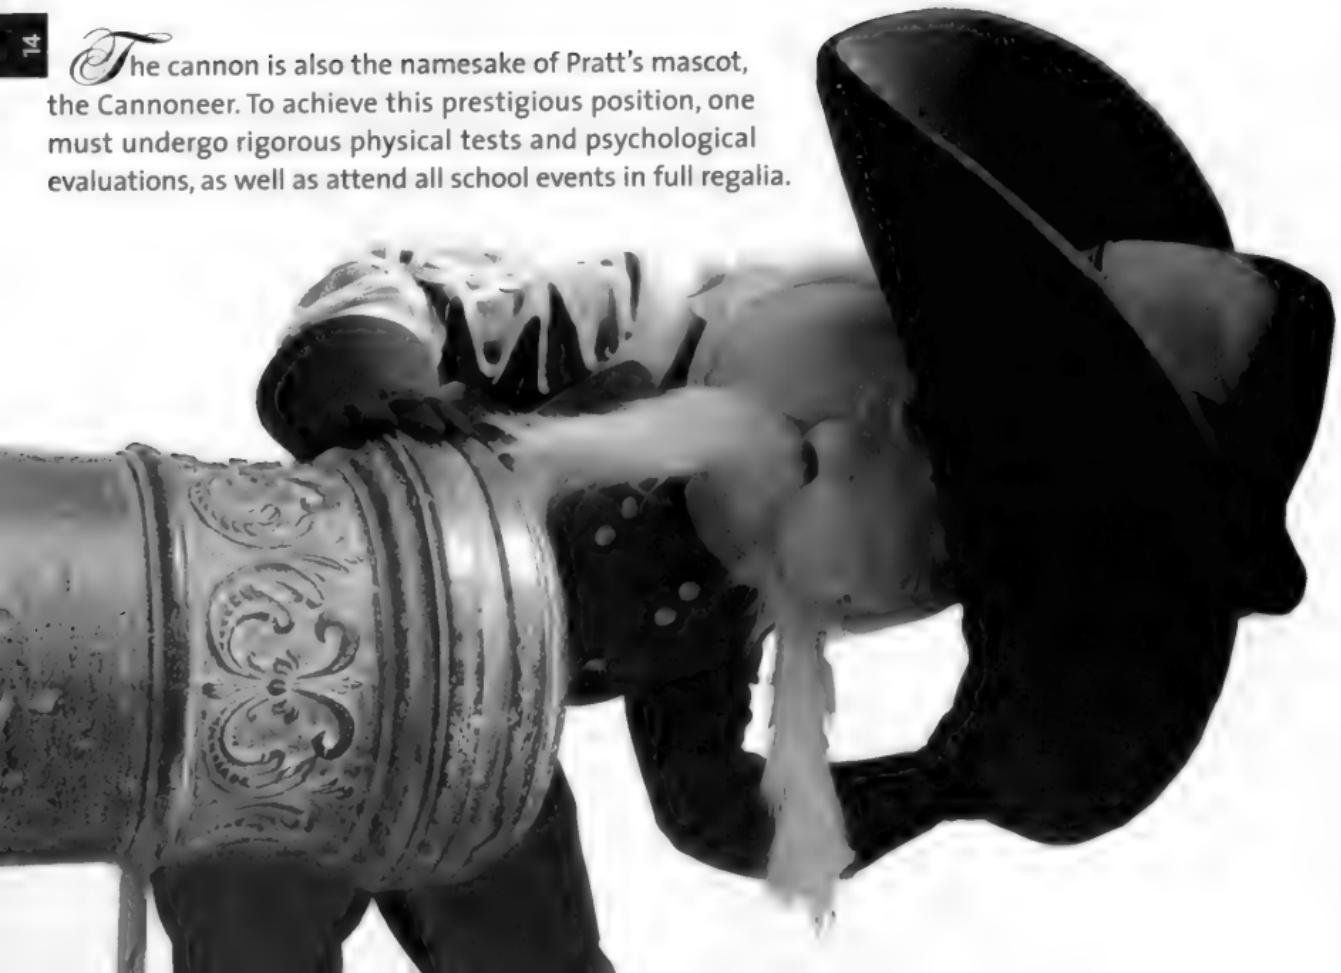

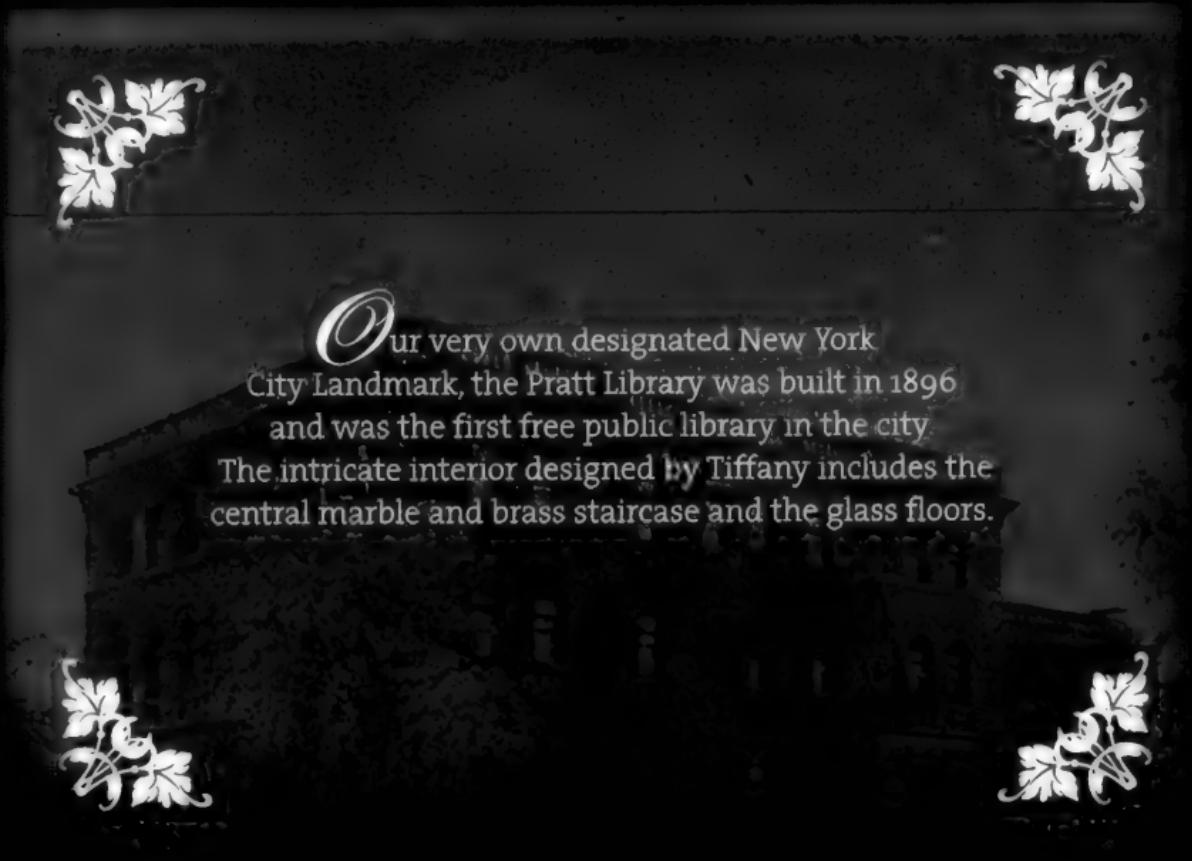

When DeKalb Hall used to be a men's dormitory, the legend had it that when a virgin walked past
the cannon, it would go off to alert the boys inside.
Last one to the virgin is a rotten egg!
The cannon is actually from the Spanish American War, and was brought to Pratt in 1899 from Havana, Cuba.

The cannon is also the namesake of Pratt's mascot, the Cannoneer. To achieve this prestigious position, one must undergo rigorous physical tests and psychological evaluations, as well as attend all school events in full regalia.

Our very own designated New York City Landmark, the Pratt Library was built in 1896 and was the first free public library in the city. The intricate interior designed by Tiffany includes the central marble and brass staircase and the glass floors.

*I*n the 70's, Pratt's library was rented out as a space to film a documentary. Unbeknownst to Pratt officials, the filmmakers were actually documenting the sexual escapades of Debbie and her "virgin" cheerleader friends as they romped through the Library, the ARC and Fort Greene Park. When the porno hit the shelves, there was a brand spanking new image of Pratt.

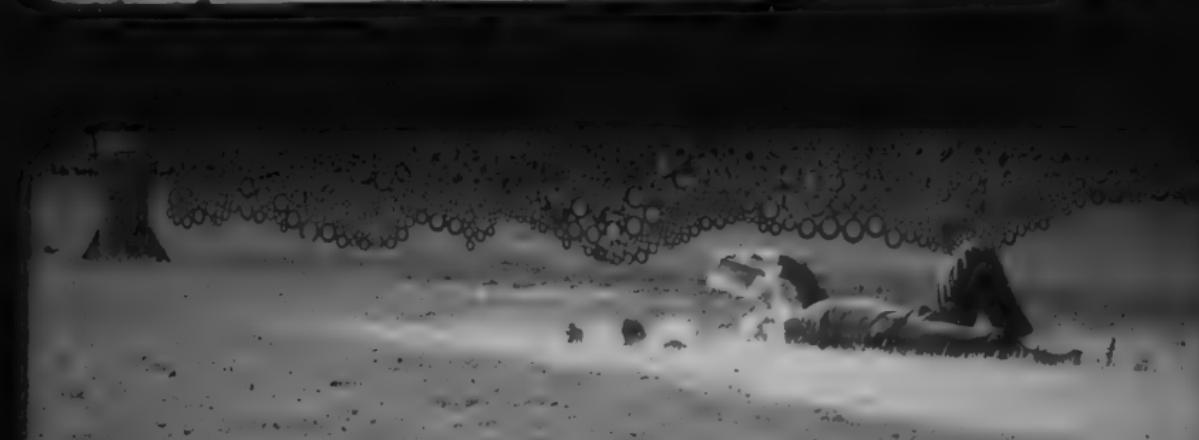

How many phases does it take to restore the center of Pratt's campus? The restoration of the main building is becoming as historical as the building itself. Hopefully by our ten year reunion the renovations will be complete, sans scaffolding.

*T*he lawn area behind the library known as Pratt Beach is where students suit up during warm weather to catch some rays. Although there is no water or sand, Pratt students settle for the sun alone, and use their vivid imaginations to create the rest.

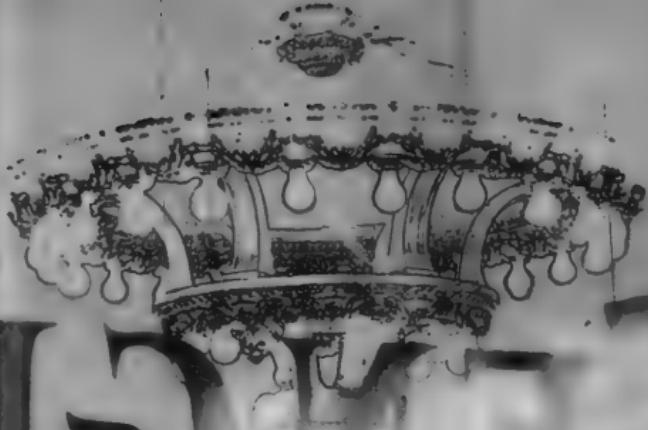

*P*ossibly from the 1600's, the large Italian marble fountain was originally a wellhead. Pratt purchased this sculpture in 1900 and since then, it has served as a centerpiece for outdoor activities. While in the courtyard, eat, drink and be merry, but make sure to brown bag it.

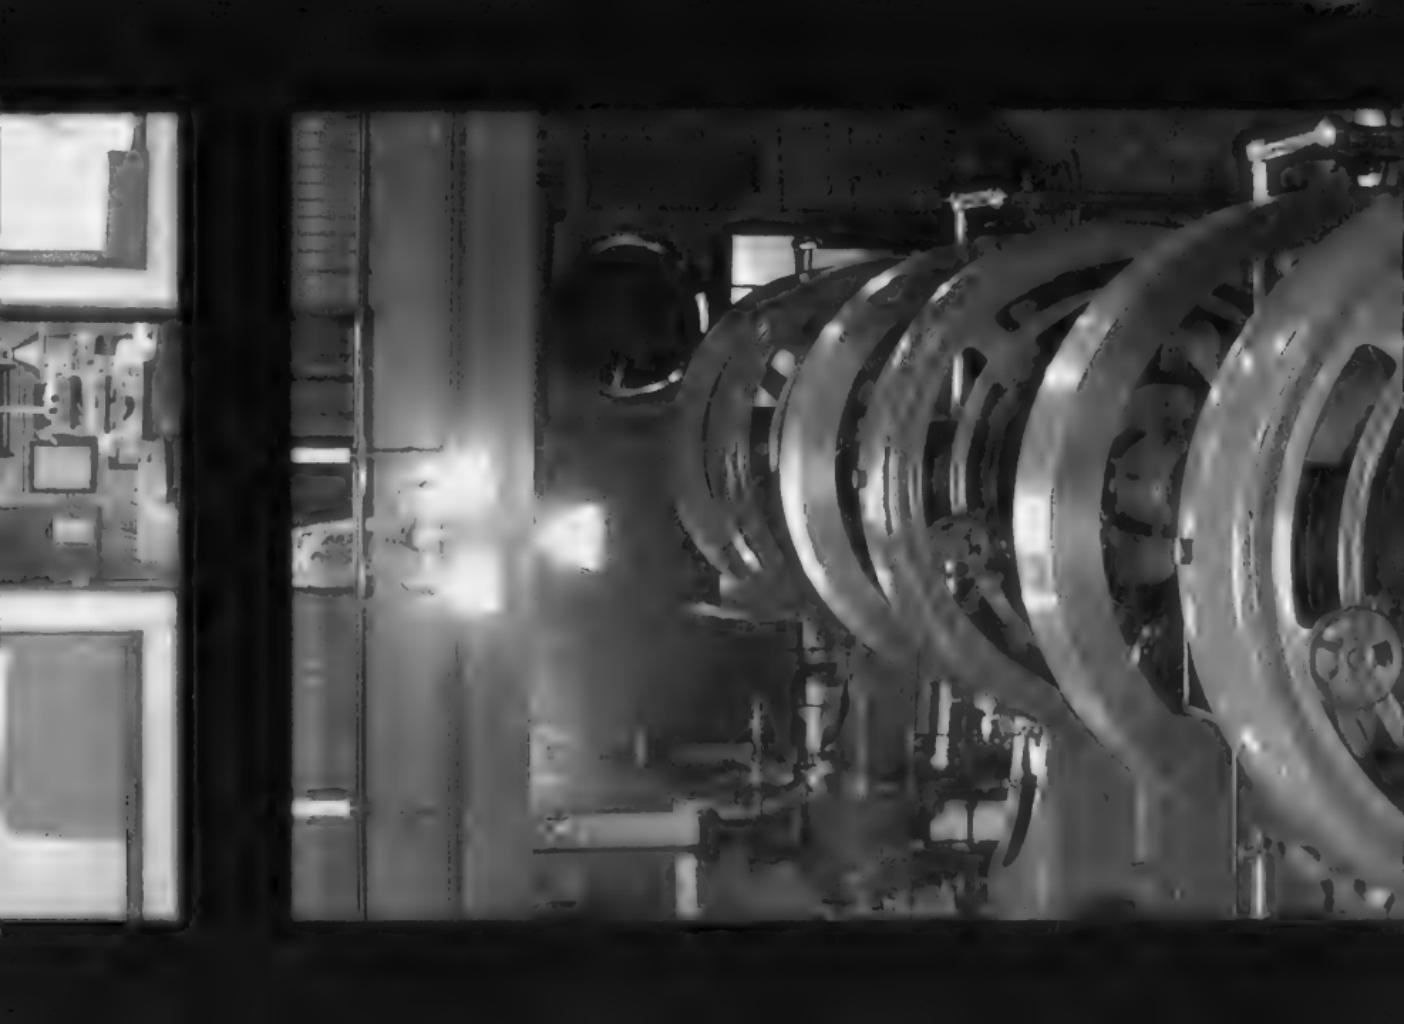

*A*lthough the top floor is scattered with meow mix, the heart of the engine room exemplifies Pratt's visionary status. Built in 1887, the engine room provided Pratt with one of the first electrical power sources of the time, while most of the city still relied on gas. Electrical generators became common shortly thereafter but Pratt's is now one of the only survivors of its kind. In its original form, the engine room still provides heat and hot water to the campus.

1) YES. AGAINST PARK. NOT ANY OF THE STRAY CATS LIVE IN THE POWER PLANT. SOME HAVE BEEN HERE FOR TEN OR MORE YEARS

2) NO. THEY ARE NOT STARVING. THEY ARE FED TWICE A DAY BUT IF YOU WISH TO GIVE THEM A TIDBIT PLEASE DO SO. IF THEY TELL YOU THEY ARE HUNGRY YOU ARE BEING HAD.

3) YES. MOST OF THEM ARE AVAILABLE FOR ADOPTION TO GOOD HOMES BUT PLEASE DO NOT TAKE ONE WITHOUT CHECKING WITH US.

4) NO. THEY ARE NOT PREGNANT. ALL CATS HAVE BEEN CHECKED BY A VET AND NEUTERING IS A CONDITION OF RESIDENCE.

5) NO. THE INSTITUTE DOES NOT CONTRIBUTE FINANCIALLY IN ANY WAY TO THEIR CARE. THE TOTAL COST IS CARRIED BY PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS.

6) NO WE DO NOT NEED OR WANT MORE CATS SO PLEASE DO NOT ABANDON YOUR CATS HERE. CAT FOOD AND VET BILLS ARE EXPENSIVE UNLESS YOU WANT TO MAKE A LARGE CONTRIBUTION, DON'T EVEN THINK OF LEAVING YOUR CATS AND KITTENS HERE.

AVING

Contrary to popular belief, the tunnels underneath Pratt Campus were never used as underground walkways, nor was there a subway running below us. They were simply built to carry pipes and electrical lines from building to building.

But watch your step on Halloween night, students have been known to go missing when the spirits of an ancient insane asylum begin to stir.

It is a common belief that Pratt's industrial style buildings were designed to be easily converted into a shoe factory. Though Charles Pratt never really had a foot fetish, he did have a foot fetish, in mind in case the commercial purposes school did not succeed. Plan B was dropped, however, when Pratt Institute flourished as an educational establishment, one of the top art schools in the country, a factory for creativity.

P Pratt used to offer several unique physical education classes. There was once a bowling alley in South Hall, fencing in the gym and horseback riding in Prospect Park. These activities are part of Pratt's past, and luckily so is this athletic cheer:

Rah! Rah! Sis Boom Bah!
We are the girls of the Institute.
We don't smoke and we don't chew,
We don't go with boys who do.
Knit one, purl two,
Drop the stitch, boo hoo!

*Pratt is movin' on up (to the west side). From the modern windows (don't even think about opening them) to the fancyschmancy new designer furniture, the West 14th street building is all ours. Because this is such a recent addition to the Pratt family, the memories of Prankster Puck and our former Manhattan home are still fresh in our minds.*

"If you're working, you're getting better – you're getting somewhere.

If you're doing nothing, you're not."

Charles Goslin is a highly accomplished graphic designer and has been teaching at Pratt since 1966. He has mentored countless students and inspired them to achieve beyond expectations.
